DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 34-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The applicants have added the phrase “heat sealed to the substrate and covering...”

3. The breadth of this claim is not supported by the speciation as originally filed. The examiner can not determine if the applicants intend the “adhesive coating” to be heat sealable, if it is an additional layer, etc... It appears that this would cover any possibility, but that does not appear to be supported by the specification. It is impossible to determine how this claim relates to the invention disclosed by the applicants as originally filed.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 34-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

6. The claim is continues to be confusing. It is not clear what allows the adhesive layer to be heat sealed to the substrate. It is not clear if the “hydrophilic” layer is the heat sealable layer or if the substrate provides this function.
7. The phrase “wherein the coating layer is positioned to contacts the fluid...) is confusing.
8. The applicants continue to amend sections of the claim, but this has made it exceedingly difficult to determine what is actually being claimed.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments filed 2/17/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The amendment overcomes the previous art rejection. However, it is unclear what structures are included in the claims as currently drafted.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 1773
